STATE OF A REPRESENTATIVE.
Hon. B. J. Jack informs us that he received a telegram this morning, announcing the death of Hon. J. J. Heron, at his home in Princeton. Mr. Heron has served two terms in the House of Representatives, and was considered one of the prominent members of that body. He had been in ill health for some time. Mr. Heron was a native of Cumberland county, Pa., and was a schoolmate of Henry W. Wagner, county clerk of this county. He was a most genial man in his personal relations, and exceedingly popular.

ANALYSIS OF THE VOTE IN THE HOUSE ON ADOPTING THE MATTHEWS CONCURRENT RESOLUTION.
The vote in the House on adopting the Matthews concurrent resolution shows 114 Democrats and 75 Republicans (total 189) in the affirmative, and 56 Democrats and 23 Republicans (total 79) in the negative. The only Western men who voted no were (Colo. of Missouri); Ellsworth and Williams, of Michigan; Garfield of Ohio and Stewart, of Minnesota.

FRANCIS MURPHY HAS OPENED UP THE BLUE-RIBBON CRUSADE AT WASHINGTON AND, FROM REPORTS, WITH GRAND RESULTS.
The capital of the nation has long been notorious as a large contributor to the national whisky tax. It has been a kind of headquarters for evil spirits, and we are glad that Murphy has attacked his majesty in his favorite den.

SECRETARY SHERMAN, IN A LETTER TO AN IOWA EDITOR, EXPRESSES THE OPINION THAT THE SILVER DOLLAR COINED PREVIOUS TO 1873 HAS NEVER BEEN DEMONETIZED, BUT IS A LEGAL TENDER FOR ALL PURPOSES.
As it could be impossible to discover half a dozen of this coin in as many different states, and none have been coined since that date, we don't see what difference the Secretary's decision makes.

TRUMAN DOES NOT APPEAR TO BE MUCH CONCERNED AMONG THE YOUTH OF THE COUNTRY TO ENTER THE NAVAL ACADEMY AT ANnapolis.
It is said that there are now 65 vacancies in the academy, of which Illinois has 3; Iowa, 2; Kansas, 2; and Missouri, 5. Congressmen have been notified that the day of nomination cannot be later than June 21 and the appointments are to be made July 1.

THE NEW YORK COMMISSIONERS OF EMIGRATION, IN A STATE, ARE TAKING RADICAL MEASURES TO RELIEVE THE UNITED STATES OF MEXICAN AND VIETNAMESE IMMIGRANTS.
They state that of the 97,221 immigrants who arrived last year, 7,824 were of a class likely to become paupers. The evil is recognized to be a growing one, and hence the bill which has been prepared for presentation to congress, immigrants coming under the following classes are not to be allowed to land, but are to be returned by the steamship companies and cared for by them until they are returned. Persons, who, within a year previous to their arrival, have been convicted or imprisoned for any criminal offense, who have been inmates of an insane asylum, poor-house or institution of a similar character, or who might be unable to support themselves or have not friends able and willing to support them. The New York supreme court in its decision adverse to the constitutionality of the "head-tax," added that the state could by appropriate legislation, protect itself against actual paupers, vagrants and criminals arriving from other countries. If the state should pass such a law, the commissioners feared it would practically obstruct immigration. They, therefore, appeal to congress for national legislation which shall protect immigrants and prevent the introduction of destitute persons, and at the same time give the state power to reject any one liable to become a public charge.

ALFONSO, MURDERED BY HER UNLAWFUL SON, THE KING OF SPAIN, THAT LIVES IN QUEEN, ISABELLA, IS FROM AN ARISTOCRATIC HOUSE.
Her first act after being forbidden to attend the wedding was to reopen communication with the other ex-royal couple, and it is now said that a marriage has been already planned between the Prince Imperial and the Infanta Del Pilar. If this union is consummated, it will doubtless complete the alienation of King Alfonso from his mother, as he long ago emphatically set his face against an alliance between his sister and the Bonapartes.

A PORTUGUESE GRAMMAR PUBLISHED IN PARIS A FEW YEARS AGO ENDED WITH THE FOLLOWING CURIOUS REMARK: "GO THEN WHAT THE KING WHO FOR HIS CORRUPTION AND HIS WICKEDNESS WILL BE OF GREAT USE TO THE STUDENTS OF THE YOUTH, BOTH PORTUGAL AND ENGLISH, AT WHICH WE DEDICATE THIS PARTICULAR"

THE COMING PEACE.
The coming of peace is the subject of much discussion at the moment. The Russian forces will suspend hostilities, awaiting orders and the Turkish commissioners and the Grand Duke Nicholas will proceed to a preliminary treaty. The preliminary treaty was purposely made to leave the czar at liberty to make such stipulations as he may see fit. It may be made to utterly destroy the Turkish empire in Europe and to leave the czar a nominal suzerain over the empire. The advantages of this condition of things for the Russians are obvious and tremendous. Europe has consented to the negotiation of an armistice between the belligerents alone, and they can not well interfere now, or demand participation in the negotiations until the armistice is concluded. There will be no armistice until the definitive treaty is signed, and then with the Russian signature affixed to the sentence which practically transfers his European empire to Russia, and degrades himself to a position nothing better than vassalage, the czar may blantly ask the powers what they are going to do about it. Which of them will draw the sword to recreate a Turkish empire in Europe? Not Germany, for it is beyond conception and inconsistent with all known facts, that Russia has gone so far without the full consent of the Berlin government. Not Austria, for whatever she might have been able to do while the Turk had powerful arms in the field, giving Russia all she could stand to, it would be quite another matter to attack the victorious Russians alone with almost a certainty of Germany's appearance. The czar, as the ally of the czar, not England, for like a torpid she has crawled into her shell, apparently only anxious to be let alone. And not England, certainly for the discussions which Russia has contrived to foment among the people, in parliament, and in the cabinet, will not subside while it is Russia's interest that they shall continue. And if they were quelled and war reached upon what could England's lion clade and a pukry army corps or two accomplish toward unchaining the subjugated Turk, against a quarter of a million veterans, in full possession of the territory? The Vienna theory of the armistice is plausible enough, and whether true in detail or not, it is probably correct in intention. Russia's intention only to allow Austria and England the privilege of ratifying the final peace if they like or of protesting if they don't.

A Celestial Marriage.
Married, at Virginia City, Nevada, on the 1st inst., by the Rev. Father McGrath, Ah Wan, Esq., and Miss Nan Yang. The following was the ceremony: "Ah Wan, you like this piece of woman much good? You bet? Nan Yang, you like this one piece of man way up good? He like this piece? Ah Wan, you never catch no more woman but this one piece, do you mind that? No more entree? Nan Yang, you catch no more man but Ah Wan, dyo understand that? All right. Then, in the name of the Almighty I call you all same one piece meat. The groom pay $100 for the bride to the company that had imported her, and when he learned that if he had married her the law would have given him possession of her without paying a cent, a ghorn was cast over the community.

THE NEW ORLEANS TIMES INFORMS PRESIDENT HAYES THAT INTERFERENCE IN BEHALF OF THE RETURNING BOARD IS A MORAL AND PHYSICAL IMPOSSIBILITY, AND THAT THE INSTITUTION MAY BE DISAGREEABLE TO MR. HAYES BUT THE LOGIC OF EVENTS IS SUPERIOR TO HIS WISHES AT THIS TIME, AND HE CAN DO NOTHING BUT LET THE LAW OF THE STATE TAKE ITS COURSE, WHATEVER MAY BE THE CONSEQUENCES TO THE MEN WHO PLACED HIM IN OFFICE.

EASTERN CAPITALISTS ARE GETTING UNDULY ALARMED AT THE SHINKAGE OF VALUES IN THE WEST.
Particularly is the alarm gratuitous when it has reference to farm mortgages. The New York Daily Bulletin puts the matter correctly when it states that loans upon farms rest upon a totally different basis from loans upon city lots or speculative property. Farms proper have shrunk but little comparatively and represent solid productive property. The fact that so many Western farms are mortgaged is not a pleasant one to contemplate, because it shows that the farmers are not so rich as they ought to be, but the mortgagee need ask no sympathy from the public or go to paying himself for it will probably turn out that he is the best secured man in the country.

THE RIGHT OF THE GOVERNMENT TO INTERFERE IN RELIGIOUS AFFAIRS IS STRONGLY MAINTAINED IN GERMANY.
The Ultramontanes lately got up a petition with 188,000 signatures, asking for the abolition of the laws by which the Catholic schools and clergy are placed under government control. To this the Minister of Ecclesiastical Affairs replied that the government declined to discuss or even consider the possibility of modifying these statutes as long as the right of the government to legislate on these matters was denied by the Ultramontane party.

THE PRESIDENT.
The President's position is a difficult one. He is a correct account of the plan fixed upon last summer for displacing Hayes and inaugurating Tilden. Just before leaving for Europe Tilden had a conference with influential friends, consisting of leading men from every state and one member of the Supreme Court, to devise means to gain the place to which he believed himself to have been elected. This idea was to hit upon a plan that could be acted on immediately. Quo warranto proceedings would be too long and it was finally concluded that a bill might be introduced giving the Supreme Court original jurisdiction in certain matters connected with state rights. A bill was to be passed permitting the state of Louisiana to come before the United States Supreme Court and declare that the Electoral vote of that state had been wrongly counted for Hayes, and apply for a writ commanding Mr. Hayes to show by what warrant this was done. It was thought that Senators enough could be found to be induced under various influences to pass the bill. A prominent Louisiana politician was to arrange for Louisiana coming forward and demanding the bill. A jury would be required, and it was decided that a jury from the Chief Justices of the various states, and if they should be exhausted then from the Associate Justices. When the matter was ready it was laid before five prominent Southern men. Much to the disgust of the managers, they all refused to have anything to do with it in any way, because their action would not be the proposed proceeding meant to effect. No influence could be brought to bear sufficiently potent to change these Southerners and much to the disgust of Tilden and others interested, the scheme failed, and thus, as the Times correspondent has said, "Those so-called Confederate Brigadiers saved Mr. Hayes' throne and title for the second time. The same authority asserts that Hendricks did not favor the plan, and went to Europe to be out of the way while it was being matured."

WASHINGTON, D. C., January 31.—Senator Allison, who has charge of the Silver bill, says that there is no probability of a vote being reached on that measure to-day, but that the debate will undoubtedly run into next week. Quite a number of Senators have indicated their intention to address the Senate, but are not fully prepared to do so to-day or to-morrow, and action will not be pressed until they can be heard. Senator Allison says that there is no doubt but the amendments made to the bill by the Finance Committee, as well as the one offered by him, looking to an international convention to consider the whole subject of coinage, will be adopted by the Senate. The extreme silver men are not likely to vote for any of the pending amendments, but the others, Mr. Allison believes, will recognize the necessity of amending the bill before it is presented to the President for his signature. Mr. Allison will close the debate in the Senate on the bill after the others have spoken.

When the bill came up to-day, Mr. Bayard said that he had intended to speak, but was not prepared to do so to-day, and he would therefore move that further consideration of the bill be postponed until Monday next.
Pending action on this motion, Senators Beach and Morgan offered amendments authorizing the holders of bullion to deposit the same in a United States mint, or at any Assistant Treasury, and receive silver certificates for the same, which shall be received for all dues to the Government, including custom duties. Mr. Bayard's motion was agreed to. The Senate transacted no business, but, after postponing consideration of the Silver bill, adjourned at 1:45, until Monday next.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31.—The tariff bill was submitted to-day, by the subcommittee to the full committee of ways and means, who decided to consider it next Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday, and every day thereafter until they shall take final action.

When the question of postponing the silver bill was discussed, Oglesby said public feeling was as much aroused on this question of remonetization of silver as it had been on any question since he had been in the senate, and the people were growing impatient at the apparent studied delay in disposing of it.
The American people had been for more than three years in despair. Poverty had been on every hill top, all over the country smiling at their distress. Congress had given an expression to no plan that could be considered an honest attempt at relief. The time had come when congress could say and ought to say, what, in its judgment, should be done in regard to the silver question. Nothing could be gained by postponing further consideration of this bill until Monday. No new arguments could be produced. Some senator might prepare himself to speak more intelligently, but no new light could be given. He was opposed to any delay.

TELEGRAPHIC ENGLAND.
Exciting Scenes in London.
No Armistice Signed Yet.
Terrible Disaster at Sea.
WASHINGTON RUMORS.
Official Protests Against Postponing the Silver Bill.

LONDON, January 31.—The House of Commons was very crowded in all parts this afternoon by persons anxious to listen to the debate on the government's motion for a supplementary vote. Many peers and foreign representatives were present.

Sir Stafford Northcote, Chancellor of the Exchequer, in replying to a question said the government will not object to furnish the House with correspondence respecting the Gladstone Negotiations incident.
Under Foreign Secretary Bourke, in reply to a question, said he had heard to-day the telegraph line between Constantinople and Gallipoli was cut.

Sir Stafford Northcote, in response to an inquiry of Mr. Chaplin, said at the latest advice no armistice had been signed. The Russians are still advancing southward, but he was ignorant as to what point they have reached. As to whether, in view of the continued Russian advance, England will adhere to the conditions of Lord Derby's dispatch, he said: "I can only say that the government does entirely adhere to those conditions."

Mr. Forster is now (5 o'clock p. m.) amid cheers of the opposition, moving his amendment to the vote of credit, declaring that the House sees no reason for adding to the people's burden by voting additional supplies. Mr. Forster said he saw nothing in the peace conditions endangering British interests. He was convinced of the absolute necessity of his amendment.

LONDON, Jan. 31.—It is reported that at a cabinet council yesterday, the party of action gained the ascendancy, and an important ministerial statement will be made at an early stage of the pending debate, which will alter the aspect of the situation. If no news, or unsatisfactory news, touching the armistice be received before a division, the government's majority will probably exceed 100. The signing of the armistice would reduce the majority, and increase the vigor and bitterness of the opposition's attacks. There is some talk among the radicals of opposing the money vote by obstructive tactics in the event of an armistice being concluded.

The home-rulers held another conference to-day, to determine if they will pursue it. It is believed they will most likely decide to leave the members to their individual responsibility.
LONDON, Jan. 31.—4:30 p. m.—A meeting was advertised for 3 o'clock this afternoon at the City Terminus Hotel, Cannon street, to protest against the supplementary vote of £6,000,000. Long before the advertised hour, the hotel and all adjacent streets and open spaces were filled with crowds which cheered the government, sang patriotic songs and held impromptu meetings in support of the government's policy. The proprietors of the hotel, called in the police, but the small squad sent in response to their request had no effect on the crowds. Several public rooms in the hotel were gutted. No attempt was made to hold the anti-credit meeting.

NEW YORK, Jan. 31.—Judge Donahue, in the supreme court, special term, to-day issued an order that Thomas Lord, Jr., Henry Lord and Francis H. Lord, show cause on Friday next, why the whole proceedings in the matter of lunacy, inquiry on their part into the mental condition of their father, Thomas Lord, Jr., should not be vacated and annulled. In the meanwhile, proceedings under the lunacy commission on the part of the sons are stayed. Mr. Lord, Jr., has come out from his retirement and intends to contest the legal proceedings brought against him by his sons. He has engaged ex-Judge Porter and his law firm. He also had an interview with Dr. Fordyce, banker, and Dr. Austin Flint, and submitted to examinations by them as to his sanity or insanity, and on their affidavits and on the affidavit of Mr. Lord himself, Judge Donahue took this action.

THE TERRIBLE DISASTER.
The signal service disaster at Kitty Hawk station is reported to the Chief Signal Officer as follows: The steamship Methuen, stranded on Currituck beach, three miles south of Currituck Light House, and is a total loss. There were 258 persons on board fifty of whom swam ashore.

THE WORK OF RELIEF.
The Secretary of the Navy has directed Admiral Trenchard, in command at Norfolk, to send a steam launch through the canal to the scene of the wreck. The Signal Service Sergeant at Norfolk reports that the steamer Clinton and the coast-wrecking steamer Roseau have departed in all haste for the scene of the disaster.

Up to 3:30 a. m. the Chief Signal Officer here had received no dispatches from the operator sent to the scene of the wreck, nor has anything additional been received from Norfolk.

NEW YORK, Jan. 31.—Postmaster James has telegraphed Postmaster General Key, that the assistant treasurer of the United States at New York, refuses to receive trade dollars on deposit from the post office, which compels the postmaster to refuse them from the public, which causes serious annoyance and complaint. The assistant treasurer says the reason he refuses to receive the trade dollar is because it is not legalized, and that were he to be superseded and his accounts closed up, his successor would unquestionably refuse to countenance any trade dollars he had accepted.
